

COCAINE SOLD TO SCHOOLBOYS; THREE ARRESTS

Child Dupes Tell How They Were Started Using the Drug.

LURED ON BY "FIENDS."

These Sold the "Dope" and Scores of Youngsters Became Their Patrons.

A startling situation developed in Newark to-day following the arrest of three heavy-eyed, sallow-faced youths, who are locked up in the Essex County Jail charged with selling cocaine to school children of the "hill" and "down-town" sections of Newark.

Scores of schoolboy victims, ranging in years from nine to thirteen, the police declare, have been claimed as "cocaine snuffers" because of the trade which the trio have been plying among children since the beginning of the year.

The war which Capt. Oscar Vogel, of the Fourth Police Precinct, has been waging on cocaine sellers and dope fiends culminated in the arrest of Thomas Winkler, twenty years of age; Emil (Lefty) Mueller, fifteen years old, of No. 43 Lincoln street, and Charles Bruns, sixteen years old, of No. 41 Lincoln street. Winkler, the eldest, the police say, has served a term in the penitentiary for larceny, is the leader of the gang, and has used the other two youths as his tools. All three are said to be addicted to the cocaine habit.

Victims Are School Pupils.

The children to whom the drug has been sold are pupils of the Camden and Morton streets public school; but although the victims number a great many, the police so far have only been able to secure three who are willing to appear against the prisoners. They are Albert and Emil Sabold, thirteen and eleven years, respectively, brothers, of No. 40 Rankin street, and Rudolph Augustin, twelve years old, of No. 354 Fairmount avenue. Capt. Vogel is certain, however, that when the prisoners are brought forward for trial he will have a score or more child victims ready to appear and tell their stories.

The arrest of the three youths was effected by Capt. Vogel and his detective, George Koos, Jr., upon information furnished them by prisoners caught in a raid on a cocaine "joint" last Sunday night. Complaints of late have been very frequent from mothers of school children in Capt. Vogel's precinct that boys were being sold cocaine.

School Principals Help the Police.

The schoolboy victims were located by the police working in conjunction with principals of the Morton street and Camden street schools. Principal Otto H. Schulte, of the Morton street school, secured the confessions of the Sabold brothers, while Principal Walter W. Schaeffer, of the Camden street school, located the Augustin boy.

All three of the victims tell a story corroborative in detail of how the purveyors of the cocaine tempted and threatened children into inhaling the drug. Although neither of the boys will admit having paid for the cocaine they received from the prisoners, all declare that the drug was sold among other school children in 5 and 10 cent doses, and pennies which the children had previously spent for candies were turned over to members of the cocaine gang, and they got the children using the drug.

Lured Victims by Amazing Tales.

By telling him all kinds of stories about the amazing things this powder was capable of doing, twelve-year-old Rudolph Augustin told an Evening World reporter to-day, "Lefty" Miller succeeded in forcing him to inhale the drug for the first time over six months ago.

"He told me," said Rudolph, "that it would make me big and strong; that it would be a fine fighter if I took it often and would soon be able to lick any boy of my size in the school. He also said that I would have nice dreams about being a millionaire's son and having everything I wanted. I didn't want to take it, but he threatened to punch my head off if I didn't do as he said. So after he had taken some of the powder I did so too, for I thought if I didn't do it he would beat me."

Didn't Know What the Drug Was.

After that, Rudolph says, he received the drug many times from Mueller and never knew what it was. None of the boys who used to pay for it, he says, knew that it was cocaine. They allways called it "salt," because of the similarity in appearance.

Young Augustin has informed the police that on one occasion he accompanied Winkler and Mueller to Chinatown, this city, where both of the latter purchased a quantity of the drug. Capt. Vogel believes that the greater amount of the drug was bought in this city and is in communication here with the police. Several arrests of drug dealers here, it is expected, will follow.

Court Denounces Prisoners.

In holding the prisoners in heavy hall to await the action of the Grand Jury, Judge Herr, in the Fourth Precinct Court, scored the prisoners severely and expressed regret that such a condition should have existed.

"This is the saddest case," said the Judge, "I have ever experienced during my career as a public official. That youths of your age should induce school children to indulge in this awful poison is hardly conceivable. All of you are too dangerous to be at large, so I am going to hold you in the County Jail to await the action of the Grand Jury, and I sincerely hope that they will deal with you as you deserve."

BLOOM CLAIM "SILLY."

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Baron Rosen, the Russian Ambassador, has pronounced "silly" the published statement that Dr. Franklin Slocum, of Ludington, Mich., is to collect $1,000,000 for large properties in Russia belonging to Dr. Slocum's father, confiscated by the Russian Government.

Greatest Assortment of Summer Suits

OUR showing of Summer Suits for men has never risen so splendidly to an occasion. Its strength is many sided. It can satisfy and gratify the demands of every man on every score. The very immensity of it invites your interest. Here a man may secure a suit at $15 or $35, and many prices between the two, and feel confident that he is securing the best possible value, principally because we sell direct to you from our workrooms—no in between profits.

Light Colored Suits $15 Specially Priced at $15

Here's a handsome collection of light-weight, summery suits to which we have given our greatest strength. It is a showing enormous in scope, including all the newest models. The bulk of these suits have just come from our workrooms—beautiful light gray fabrics in every weave and every size, ideal suits for summer wear, both as to style and comfort. A rare, good value at $15.

Dark Cassimere & Blue Serge Suits $15

Conservatively estimated, there's a saving of at least $2.50 on each one of these suits, because our method of selling direct to you doesn't gather profits. No matter how your taste inclines, it is bound to be met in this exhaustive collection. It affords 5 distinctly new models, from the most conservative to the most ultra styles—beautiful fabrics on the darker tones and fast color blue serges that will stand the test of long hard wear. You cannot find the equal of these suits anywhere at $15.

VERY SPECIAL Blue and Black Serge Suits $16.50 $20 values.

These black and blue serge suits spell satisfaction. The serge that goes to make them has been furnished for 28 consecutive years by a mill which specializes on this fabric—serges that have won fame for their rich texture, fresh, fast color and fine finish. These suits are our standard $20 grade in every respect, and we doubt if you can find their equal at this latter price. Any man may count himself $3.50 in who buys one at $16.50.

Light Colored Velours & Thin Gray Worsteds $18

No one will know but what you are wearing a $25 suit, if you buy one of these specially priced at $18. For the man who favors the ultra fashionable types, these are indeed ideal garments. The coats are long, with deep, broad lapels, shaped waist, fancy cuffs and close with 2 or 3 buttons. The trousers are in pig, semi-pig or regular style. The fabrics are strikingly handsome, light tones of gray in decidedly new weaves, in great favor this season. An unusual value at $18.

Dark, Rich Gray $20 Worsted Suits

If the man with the extravagant custom tailor habit would look there $25 suits over, he would be many dollars in. A better fitting garment is impossible. More style is not to be had. The tailoring is the work of the best men in the business. To glean an idea of the immensity of this group, we need but say that there are five distinctive models, each one portraying the newest style points, whether conservative or radical in form. The worsteds are of the highest order, darker tones of gray, rich and exclusive. Equal to $20 suits at $20, you cannot.

Finest Gray Worsted $25 Suits, Tropical Weight

The time was when many men thought it necessary to pay $40 to $50 for suits that equal these. Some men are still paying fancy prices but they do not know a Vogel Brothers $25 suit. We have brought forth what we know to be the very finest suit possible for Summer wear, light as a feather in weight, staunch as iron because of finest fabric, best trimmings and most clever tailoring. They will appeal to a man's idea of the right kind of a summer suit. The worsteds take form in elegant light gray—patterns of the most striking and original order.

Blue and Black Serge Suits, $25 1/2 or 3/4 lined with Mohair or Alpaca

All the art of our expert tailors is centered in the production of these blue and black serge suits. They are the highest type of their class, and no money could buy better. The serge used in the construction is the finest woven. We stand back of every thread of it. The styles interpret the current fashions, and take form in conservative and ultra models. Every man who wants a serge suit—and every man does—will find these at $25 superior to any at a like price.

Summer Suits for Big Men Measuring from 42 to 50 inches around the chest $16, $20, $25, $30

Many a big stout man has come here within the past few weeks and marvelled at the supreme ease with which he is fitted and suited. Come here, if you're a big man, and try on a few of these suits specially made for big men. We know you'll be surprised and pleased—and save money. You will find them com'ortable garments—light in color, dark in color or plain blue and black.
